

Information : The abbreviated sources of information are shown in full below. When a plant name is mentioned in multiple sources, the source shown is typically the earliest source found, the source with the most data, or the most authoritative source. If different sources have different information, preference is given to the International Rhododendron Register and Checklist.

Plant : If the information source is a recent nursery catalog, that nursery may be able to supply that plant.

Picture : The picture of a plant typically shows who took the picture, and any other information known about it, such as where and when it was taken.
