The Holly Springs Hybrids

Colonel Pete Vines was a local azalea hybridizer who lived in Fairfax, VA. He had a small nursery and sold named azaleas as well as his own hybrids.

He called his azaleas the Holly Springs Hybrids. Pete named many of his creations but also sold unnamed hybrids just under number. Here are some of the outstanding azaleas he introduced.

‘Pink Parfait’

A close-up photograph of a pink azalea flower, identified as the 'Amaretto' variety. The flower is in full bloom, showing multiple layers of delicate, light pink petals with some darker pink variegation near the center. It is surrounded by lush, dark green, glossy leaves. Several small, clear water droplets are visible on the petals and leaves, suggesting a recent rain or watering. In the background, other pink flowers and buds are partially visible, along with more green foliage. The lighting is bright, creating a vibrant and fresh appearance.
